WESTERN AUSTRALIA

Atlas of mineral deposits and petroleum fields 2017

compiled by

RW Cooper, NL Wyche, CA Strong, LJ Day, JA Jones and F Irimies

This Atlas shows the location of Western Australia's mineral deposits and petroleum fields, set against a background of simplified geology and topographic information. The publication is an update of the 'Western Australia atlas of mineral deposits and petroleum fields 2015'.

Changes made to the layout in the 2015 edition are continued in this edition of the Atlas. The first map pages are 1:2.2 million scale double-page spreads. Larger-scale 1:1 million inset pages, also as double-page spreads that show greater detail in areas of more dense exploration and mining sites, are placed after all the pages from which they are extracted. The map scales have been chosen to optimize mineral and petroleum site information in this booklet format.

For the first time, the background geological map used in this Atlas is a simplification of the Geological map of Western Australia 2015 (1:2 500 000 scale), that is in turn derived from the 1:500 000 State interpreted bedrock geology digital data layers. The simplification is based on dominant rock type and age.

This publication draws together data from several sources. The minerals and construction materials information comes from the Department of Mines and Petroleum (DMP) 'Mines, mineral deposits, and prospects' database (MINEDEX). Since its inception in 1984, MINEDEX has recorded the locations and other attributes of all mines and deposits with defined resources. The Atlas also includes major mining-related infrastructure sites captured in MINEDEX — i.e. nickel, alumina, and silicon smelters or refineries — but does not display MINEDEX prospects, exploration targets, occurrences, geological observations, most other infrastructure types, or the Inventory of Abandoned Mines (WABMINES) mine features.

Information on petroleum fields in Western Australia (onshore and in State Waters) and for adjacent offshore waters controlled by the Commonwealth is derived from DMP's 'Western Australian petroleum and geothermal information management system' database (WAPIMS) and the 'Petroleum and Geothermal' section of DMP's website. Only major fields are shown, and are identified by a representative well for that field.

A total of 20 096 sites is plotted in this Atlas, only some of which display commodity abbreviations. The names of about 9% of those sites (1844 sites) are printed on the maps and appear in the index pages, with priority given to operating mines and larger deposits. In the areas for which there are enlargements, only representative mineral site names are given at the 1:2.2 million scale. More site information, including commodities, is provided on the 1:1 million scale maps. All petroleum fields are named. Construction material sites belonging to the subset 'Dimension stone' are also named and given the full symbol size. All other construction material sites (e.g. for rock, aggregate, gravel, sand, limestone) are not named, nor are commodities assigned, and these are shown with a smaller symbol size.

Commodity groups are arranged alphabetically in the Atlas Reference and Commodity Group index. The index categorizes named sites by their stage of development, using 'o' for operating sites and those currently being developed for commercial production, 'u' for undeveloped deposits and proposed mines, and 'c' for closed operations, including historic mine sites and those currently under care and maintenance as at January 2017. Commercial ownership of named sites (and projects) is also listed in the index. Historic mine sites are not linked to current projects, so commercial ownership is left blank. Mineral commodities, ownership, stage of development, and location of each site have been extracted from the MINEDEX database, which is continually updated. Digital downloads or live web-based enquiries, including an up-to-date extract of these map-specific data, are available from Online Systems at <www.dmp.wa.gov.au>.

Further enquiries as to the status of the sites and projects included in this booklet can be made by email to <minedex@dmp.wa.gov.au>. The locations and status of petroleum and non-mineral downstream processing operations can also be viewed on DMP's annually updated 'Major Resource Projects' map. Up-to-date information on Western Australian petroleum fields (onshore and in State-controlled waters) is available from the Petroleum Division of DMP. Field data for offshore Commonwealth-controlled waters is current as of mid-2012; enquiries for the latest information on fields in offshore waters should be addressed to the National Offshore Petroleum Titles Administrator (NOPTA; info@nopta.gov.au), or to Geoscience Australia (clientservices@ga.gov.au).

All maps in this publication have been produced using the Albers Equal Area Projection (Geocentric Datum of Australia 1994), with central meridian 121°00'E and standard parallels 17°30' and 31°30'S.

TO LOCATE A PROJECT

Two numbers are used to locate sites in this Atlas. The first gives the map page. The second is a grid reference number, which represents the 1:100 000 map sheet the site is located on. The first two digits of this reference number give the east–west location for the site, and the second two digits the north–south location.
