

PRINCIPAL MINING & PETROLEUM PROJECTS

INTRODUCTION

This booklet has been produced as a reference guide to the location of Western Australia's significant resource projects. Designed as a general purpose reference guide, the publication draws together data from two sources.

The source of the mining information is the Department's MINEDEX database which, since 1984, has indexed all mine sites and deposits with defined resources. Whilst the database contains some 4000 sites, because of the map scales used in this publication, only some 600 sites have been extracted for this booklet. Thus, smaller extractive industry and prospector-scale gold operations have been omitted, and a number of closely spaced pits and deposits have been consolidated into single project entities.

The scale of location capture has generally been that of the Department's public plans, and in the majority of areas has been at 1:50,000.

Commodities and minerals, ownership, stage of development and location for each site have been extracted for this publication. MINEDEX also contains additional information covering project groupings, type of site (underground/opencut mines, process plants, etc.), resource inventories, operators, environmental notices of intent for development, tenements and other detailed locality information.

For any further queries on MINEDEX and minerals information contained in this booklet, please contact:

The source of the petroleum information is databases held by the Petroleum Division. These are not available for routine purchase, however, queries on petroleum discoveries, reserves, development projects and production may be addressed to the Petroleum Division. This booklet shows discoveries that may have or have had potential for economically recoverable oil or gas. Information is also available from the bi-annual publication "Petroleum in Western Australia".

TO LOCATE A PROJECT

Two numbers are used as a code for finding a project in this booklet. The first number is the map number and the second is the 1:100,000 map sheet code. From the four digit map code the first 2 digits give the east-west location, and the second 2 digits the north-south location.

BEWICK MOREING REPORTS

These files provide important historical information relating to mining activities in Western Australia between 1887 and 1953. The information ranges from assay certificates to company correspondence relating to mining operations.

ABORIGINAL RESERVES OF W. A.

This composite map details Aboriginal reserves, protected areas, pastoral leases under Aboriginal control and other Aboriginal land tenure. Digital data is also available.

SURVEYED TENEMENT MAP SERIES

A series depicting the survey history of an area through overlapping layers of mining tenement and land tenure surveys. Available in a range of imperial and metric scales.

W. A. LOCALITIES MAP AND GAZETTEER

A map and booklet showing all mineral fields and districts, and the principal localities associated with mining. This map, along with the Mineral Deposits Map, details all deposits of economic significance.

TENGRAPH

The TENGRAPH service consists of a graphical database, which when fully developed, will enable rapid identification of areas available for mineral exploration, in relation to other land tenure and topography.

Eventually, all tenement applications will be added directly from Mining Registrars' regional offices, giving users immediate and up-to-date access from anywhere in Western Australia. By 1998 TENGRAPH will have statewide coverage.

Hard copy plans and digital data are available for sale from this database.

GIS

The GEOGRAPHIC INFORMATION SYSTEM provides the capacity to integrate a variety of graphical and textual data types, and supports the interactive analysis of this data for more informed planning decisions.

Hard copy plans and digital data are also available for sale from this system.
